THE

DUBLIN REVIEW.

78

VOL. XXVI. NEW SERIES.

JANUARY—APRIL,

MDCCCLXXVI.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,
DETROIT, MICH.
SEP 17 1888

LONDON:

BURNS, OATES, & CO., 17 & 18 PORTMAN STREET,

AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.

DERBY: RICHARDSON & SONS.

DUBLIN: JAMES DUFFY; W. B. KELLY; McGLASHAN & GILL.

BALTIMORE: KELLY, PIET & CO.

MONTREAL, CANADA: D. & J. SADLER & CO.

1876.

LONDON
WYMAN AND SONS, PRINTERS, GREAT QUEEN STREET,
LINCOLN'S-INN FIELDS, W.C.

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—CATHOLIC MIRACLES.

Are Miracles antecedently incredible? . . . . . page 1
Can the demand reasonably made, for what may be called Legal Evidence? 3
Inconsistency of Professor Mozley's Position 4
His three objections to Catholic Miracles considered 5
Procedure of the Canonization Courts 7
Instances taken from various Processes 9
Lourdes and its Miracles 17
Louise Lateau 26
Conclusion 34

ART. II.—DR. BROWNSON'S PHILOSOPHY.

Dr. Brownson's retirement from his Review 36
His objections to the recent Scholastic authors 38
The connection between these and S. Thomas 39
The theory of abstraction, in connection with the teaching of Church and Fathers on our rational knowledge of God 43
His statement considered, that "the possible is nothing in itself and is therefore unknowable" 50
His own theory and method 52
Concluding words of farewell to Dr. Brownson 54

ART. III.—PARIS.

The vicissitudes Paris has undergone 56
The political influence of Paris 58
It was the centre of Carbonarism 59
The chief design in the reconstruction of Paris 61
The depraved character in general of the press in Paris 63
And of the stage 64
M. du Camp on the demoralization of the people 66

Yet all the poor are not vicious . . . . . page 68
The good work of the Catholic Clubs 70
And of the new Catholic University 70
The glorious Catholic Traditions of Paris 71
A bright future in prospect 72

ART. IV.—F. O'REILLY ON SOCIETY AND THE CHURCH.

F. O'Reilly's papers in the "Irish Monthly" 73
F. O'Reilly on the Natural Law 75
F. O'Reilly on civil sovereignty 77
F. O'Reilly on the infallibility of the Ecclesia Docens 79
F. O'Reilly on the status of Gallicanism before 1870 82
F. O'Reilly on the then authority of Ecumenical Councils . . . 84
F. O'Reilly on the opportuneness of the Definition 86
F. O'Reilly on the Pope's authority in governing 89
F. O'Reilly and F. Newman on conscience 95

ART. V.—MR. CARLYLE.

In the palmy days of Greece a cultivated intellect did not suffice to keep men from ignorance of most vital matters 97
In our days it is much the same 99
Suppositious Anglican Address to the early Greeks 101
Comparison between Plato and Mr. Carlyle 103
Difficulty in understanding what Mr. Carlyle really believes . . 106
His opinion of Mahomet 109
His aversion to kings and nobles 113
The difference between his heroes and ours 115
Mr. Carlyle on the Papacy 117
Summary of his opinions on questions of the soul 121

ART. VI.—THE ISLE OF MAN.

The peculiarities of the Isle of Man 123
Its scenery will well repay a visit 124
The seven periods into which its history may be divided . . . 125
Its early ecclesiastical history 129
It was much harassed by the Norsemen 131
Contest between the Irish and the Norwegians for its possession . . 133
It becomes a dependency of the Holy See 136
And is afterwards ceded to Scotland 138
But is shortly after attached to England, being granted to Sir William Stanley 138

The policy of the great Earl of Derby . . . . . page 141
The condition of the island under the Commonwealth 143
Its lordship passes to the Dukes of Atholl 144
Who surrender it to the Crown of England 145
Changes which have resulted from the transfer 146

ART. VII.—THE SCHOLASTIC DOCTRINE OF SCIENCE.

Two objections against S. Thomas's theory of abstraction . . . 151
Considerations upon the first objection regarding the possibility of Science 154
Science defined. The difference between Analytic and Synthetic Intuition 156
Arguments against the Ontologistic method, chiefly as found in Gioberti and Hegel 159
The formula "Ens creat Existentias" is Pantheistic 164
Observation and analysis in the system of S. Thomas . . . 170
How we come to gain real definitions 173
How far these correspond to their objects. A residuum of mystery is always left 174
An explanation of synthesis. It is retrospective 179
Its advantages as a process of ideal construction 181
Its defects when attempted on the largest scale 183
The neglect of this thought in contemporary physical Science . . 184

ART. VIII.—THE FRENCH CATHOLIC UNIVERSITIES.

State of University Education in France from the beginning of this century 185
System of the Napoleonic University 186
The law carried by M. de Montalembert 187
The agitation for a new Universities Law 188
Progress of the law in the Assembly 190
M. Bert's opposition to it 191
Mgr. Dupanloup's great speech 193
The right to confer degrees 195
Substance of the new law 197
Catholic Universities already organized and projected in France . . 199

NOTE TO THE FIRST ARTICLE IN OUR LAST NUMBER 203

CATHOLIC LIBERALISM 204

ON A LETTER OF MONTALEMBERT'S 226

SHORT NOTICES.

Cardinal Manning's Sermon Dominus Illuminatio Mea . . page 229
Mr. Devas's Labour and Capital 231
Catholic Union Papers 234
Christianity or Erastianism 239
Catholic Church and Christian State 240
Papal Infallibility 241
Rev. F. Gonzalez's Philosophia Elementaris 241
Rev. F. Hill's Elements of Philosophy 245
Professor Tyndall on Materialism 247
Rev. F. Jovino's Critico-Biblical Disquisition on the time during which Christ lay in the tomb 250
Father Law's Index to the Harmony of the Four Gospels 254
Archdeacon of Evreux's Holy Ways of the Cross 255
Father Segneri's Sentimenti 258
Meditations for the use of the Clergy 259
Bishop Moriarty's Laying of the Stone 261
The Secret Warfare of Freemasonry against Church and State—Mgr. Dupanloup's Study of Freemasonry 264
Mr. Dering's Sherborne; or the House of the Four Ways 267
Chips from a German Workshop 269

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—TRADITION AND PAPAL INFALLIBILITY.

Cardinal Franzelin's general doctrine on Tradition . . . page 271
What is meant by Unwritten Tradition? 273
What was meant in early centuries by appeal to Antiquity? . . 275
Authority due to patristic or scholastic unanimous teaching . . 276
Authority due to the sensus fidelium 279
Doctrinal development 282
Correct account of the Church's doctrinal unity 287
Papal Infallibility a revealed dogma 289
Reply to the "Roman Catholic Layman" 290

ART. II.—PROFESSOR MIVART'S LESSONS FROM NATURE.

Introductory observations and general account of the Scholastic Psychology 301
Lower and higher psychological phenomena 303
Necessary truths and generalization 304
Aim and plan of "Lessons from Nature" 308
Association and the phenomena of animal instinct 309
Intuition not instinct 315
The intuitive reflective cognition of the Ego 315
Other reflective knowledge 319

ART. III.—CATHOLIC INTERMEDIATE EDUCATION.—ST. MARY'S ORPHANAGE, BLACKHEATH.

Strange that Mr. Gladstone should have allowed his name to be identified with such a work as M. de Laveleye's 322
Lessons to be learnt from past legislation 323
Sir Charles Gavan Duffy on the position of Irishmen in Australia . 324
The inferiority of Catholic to Protestant education 325
The necessity for good Catholic intermediate schools 326
No help is to be expected from the State 328
The good work done by Dr. Todd at St. Mary's Orphanage. . . 330
Catholics must use all their energies to multiply similar establishments 331

ART. IV.—RANKE'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND.

Ranke's misstatements respecting the Grand Alliance of 1689 against France . . . . . page 332
And concerning the martyrs in Queen Elizabeth's reign . . . 333
And concerning the Jesuits during James II.'s reign . . . 335
His account of the development of the English Constitution . . 337
On the contest between the Crown and the Parliament under the Stuarts 339
Value of the documents in the Appendix to Ranke's volume . . 341
Deplorable condition of Ireland in 1689 345
Ranke's version of the Battle of the Boyne 348
Regret that Ranke should have sullied his fame by writing such a work 350

ART. V.—CHURCH AND STATE.

Recent Catholic writers on Church and State 351
Practical agreement of Catholics on the State's true end . . . 353
Suggested formulation of the doctrine, on which Catholics are practically agreed 359
Relations of the Church to the State 365
Consideration of some statements made by Catholic writers. . . 369

ART. VI.—ART IN THE PROVINCES.—"KERAMIC ART OF JAPAN."

The assistance Art gives to Religion 375
On the cultivation of Art among commercial men 377
Objects of the Liverpool Art Club 379
Analysis of the various works under review 381
Mr. Rathbone's lecture upon the perfection of Greek Art . . . 383
Messrs. Audsley and Bowes's "Keramic Art of Japan" . . . 385
The origin of Lithography 387
On Photo-lithography and Autotype printing 390
On Chromo-lithography 392
Pleasure to be derived from the future numbers of Messrs. Audsley and Bowes's work 393
Hope for the Church in the opening of the Japanese empire to the world 398

ART. VII.—THE SCHOLASTICS ON INTELLECT AND ABSTRACTION.

Introduction.—In the Scholastic method science and knowledge are so connected, that both derive their characteristics from abstraction. 400
The postulates of a thorough inquiry into the nature of abstraction . 405

Outline (from Lessius) of the Catholic teaching on the Divine Intellect and its relations to creatures. The imitability of God . page 409
Difficulties touching matter, and its expression in pure thought . . 416
The theory of angelic intelligences 419
The right view of man's nature indispensable to the right estimate of his place and function amid intelligences 428
The proper object and essential form of our intellect is universality . 433
Two explanations of how the form of universality arises proximately in the object 437

ART. VIII.—SECULAR EDUCATION IN ENGLAND AND THE UNITED STATES.

The special function of the Church 443
An American Protestant's opinion of Secularism 444
The superiority of Catholic schools in the seventeenth century over those of the Protestants 445
In all ages the Church fostered education 447
The inestimable benefit England derived from the monastic institutions in the Early ages 448
Has the Church renounced her mission? 449
Education without religion is a danger for society 454
The result of Secularism in Germany and Russia 458
The evils of the Common School system in America 463
Fearful anticipations if it is continued 468
An American "Free School" belies its name 471
What does the world hope to gain by usurping the office of the Church? 473
The growth of the Catholic Church in the United States . . . 479
Mr. Abbott's programme for the Secularists 481

NOTE TO THE FOURTH ARTICLE IN THE JANUARY NUMBER . . 483

PIUS IX. ON LIBERAL CATHOLICISM 487

THE CHURCH'S SOCIAL CONFLICT 494

NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Cardinal Manning's Inaugural Address delivered at the Manchester Academia 501
Rev. F. O'Reilly's Relations of the Church 503
Canon Oakeley's Voice of Creation 504
Mr. H. L. Oxenham's On Eternal Punishment 506

Miss Allies' Life of Pope Pius the Seventh . . . . . page 506
Dr. L. J. Hundhausen's First Pontifical Letter of Peter, the Prince of the Apostles 513
M. Baunard's Life of the Apostle S. John 514
Rev. F. Coleridge's Chronicle of S. Antony of Padua 518
Sermons by Fathers of the Society of Jesus 519
Rev. F. Claude de la Colombière's Sufferings of our Lord Jesus Christ; Meditations for Lent 521
Franciscan Missions among the Colliers and Ironworkers of Monmouthshire 522
Canon Gilbert's Reflections on the Stations of the Cross 524
Rev. F. Kingdon's Essay on the Protagoras of Plato 524
The Unseen Universe; or, Physical Speculations on a Future State . 526
Rev. J. Di Bruno's Exposition of Catholic Doctrine 528
The Elements of Gregorian or Plain Chant and Modern Music . . 529
Miss Noble's Gertrude Mannering 529
Mr. Frank Marshall's Study of Hamlet 531
The Catholic Review 533